High School or GED Completion Status Form

Select the answer below that describes your high school completion status when you begin college in the 2022-2023 school year.

High School diploma means you have received or will receive a U.S. high school diploma before the first date of your enrollment in college or you have received or will receive a foreign school diploma that is equivalent to a U.S. high school diploma before the first date of your enrollment in college.

GED certificate or state authorized high school equivalent certificate means you have received or will receive a General Educational Development (GED) certificate or state authorized high school equivalent certificate before the first date of your enrollment in college. A state authorized high school equivalent certificate is a certificate that the issuing state recognized as the equivalent of a high school diploma in that state. Note: A high school certificate attendance and/or a certificate of completion are NOT the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Home schooled means you have completed home schooling at the secondary level regulated by your state.

None of the above means you do not have a high school diploma, GED, or equivalent and did not complete secondary school in a home school setting.

What will your high school completion status be when you begin college in the 2022-2023 school year? Please only select one.
